Section 31 (1a) - The prevention or detection of crime

This information is exempt from disclosure under Section 31 (1a) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA). We consider that if the data you have requested were to be combined with other information which may be available in the public domain, there would likely to be an increased risk of a cyber-security attack upon the Trust. As part of the Critical National Infrastructure for the NHS, the Trust has a duty to protect the integrity of our systems. The disclosure of the information requested could expose weaknesses in our systems and lead to breaches, making the UK or its citizens, in this case our patients, more vulnerable to security threat.

Public Interest Test

To use this exception we are required to undertake a public interest test. The matters which were considered in applying the public interest test are as follows:

Factors in favour of disclosure:

- Disclosure of the data supports the general public interest in the transparency, accountability and general understanding of the delivery of public services.

Factors in favour of withholding:

- Breaches in Trust security and is therefore a reasonable threat to the confidential patient data held on our systems.
- Temporary or long term lack of availability of IT systems
- Corruption/loss of patient data which would prevent or interrupt provision of patient care.

There is a strong public interest in protecting the confidentiality of patient data and of ensuring that healthcare services can be provided to the public without increasing the possibility of attack by hackers or malware, or of putting personal or other information held on these systems at risk of corruption or subject to illegal access. For these reasons, the Trust has decided that it is in the public interest to withhold this information at this time.

This response therefore acts as a refusal notice under section 17 of the FOIA.
